Alert

You are about to purchase a product that is not simple and may be difficult to understand.

What is this product?

Type: This document will provide you key information on Contracts for Differences (CFDs) where the underlying asset is a commodity. The price of the CFD on a Commodity is derived from the price of the respective underlying commodity. CFD trading allows a trader to speculate on rising or falling prices in an underlying commodity. Your profit or loss is determined by the difference between the buying and the selling price of the CFDs, minus any relevant costs (detailed below). You will make gains or incur losses as a result of price movements in the underlying asset. CFDs on Commodities have different type of commodities as underlying assets; the main being energy commodities (Natural Gas, Oil etc.) and metals (gold, silver etc.).

Objectives: The objective of trading CFDs on Commodity is to speculate on price movements (generally over the short term) in an underlying asset, without actually buying or selling it. Your return depends on movements in the price of the underlying asset and the size of your position. Through your trading with us, you receive the exposure to the performance of the underlying asset, but you do not receive any ownership or other rights to the underlying asset.

Intended Retail Investor: Trading in this product will not be appropriate for everyone. The product may be used by persons who want to have a short-term exposure to financial instruments trading with money that they can afford to lose. Since this product have a high risk, persons trading this product will have tolerance for high volatility and losses and can understand the impact of and risks associated with the trading. For more information, please refer to our Order Execution Policy

Trading in CFDs on Commodities carries high level of risk and thus can generate great profits as well as great losses. You should never invest more than you are willing to lose, as it is possible to lose all your initial investment.

Terms: CFDs on Commodities are execution only products. It is up to you to open and close your position, however your position will only be kept open to the extent that you have available margin. CFDs are not suitable for long-term investments and are intended for short-term, sometimes intraday, trading. CFD positions generally have no maturity date. It’s up to each individual trader to decide the appropriate time to open and close his positions. Nevertheless, failure to deposit additional funds in order to meet margin requirement as a result of negative price movement, may result in the CFD position being auto closed.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk Indicator

Signification of the indicator

This indicator measures the level of risk at which your investment may be exposed. The risk category is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean «risk-free».

The CFDs on Commodities display a grade of 7 on a scale ranging from 1 to 7 (1 being the less risky category). They therefore exhibit (because also of leverage) the highest risk characteristics. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose all of your investment.

The Client could place Stop Loss order to limit potential losses and/or Take Profit order to collect profits.

If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment. However, you may benefit from the Investor Compensation Fund (see the section ‘what happens if we are unable to pay you’).

The indicator shown above does not consider this protection.

General CFD risks

- CFDs are complex financial instruments and are traded Over the Counter (“OTC”). You can only exit a position by trading with us, during the trading hours of the underlying asset as stated on our Website.
- CFDs are leveraged products. You need a small margin for getting exposure to the underlying asset. Leverage can magnify both your profits as well as your losses. We operate a Negative Balance Protection i.e. you cannot lose more than the Equity of your trading account, however you risk losing the capital invested with us.
- Be aware of currency risk. You may receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.
